Wheat Industry Advocates For NAFTA's Preservation & Modernization

Under Trade Agreement, U.S. Wheat Exports Increased 500 Percent

International Trade Through NAFTA Bolsters The U.S. Wheat Industry:

American Wheat Exports Increased 500 Percent In The 10 Years Following NAFTA's Implementation. (Jacqui Fatka, "U.S. Meat Groups Stress Importance Of North American Trade," Feedstuffs, 1/26/17)

In 2016, Mexico Was The Largest Export Market For U.S. Wheat, Importing Approximately 3.3 Million Metric Tons. (American Bakers' Association, National Association Of Wheat Growers, U.S. Wheat Associates, North American Millers' Association, Canimolt, Cereals Canada, & Western Canadian Wheat Growers, Letter To President Trump, Prime Minister Trudeau, President Pena Nieto, Ambassador Lighthizer, Minister Freeland & Minister Guajardo, 1/25/18)

Wheat Industry Leaders Have Praised NAFTA's Positive Impacts On Their Industry:

U.S. Wheat Associates Chairman Mike Miller: "The Relationship Between U.S. Wheat Farmers And Mexican Flour Millers And Wheat Food Companies Took Off With NAFTA. It Is A Highly Successful Partnership, With Tariff-Free Access, That Helped Make Mexico Our Largest Customer The Past Two Years And Supports Revenue For Wheat Farmers From Dozens Of States." ("Wheat Industry: NAFTA Works, Mexico Is Largest Customer," AgDaily, 1/26/18)

National Association of Wheat Growers President Gordon Stoner: "NAFTA Has Benefited Not Only Wheat Growers But All Our Partners Along The Entire Value Chain From Farmers To Consumers And Everyone In Between. The Fact That Wheat Producers And End Users From All Three Countries Would Speak With One Voice About The Importance Of NAFTA Should Speak Volumes To Our Leaders" ("Wheat Industry: NAFTA Works, Mexico Is Largest Customer," AgDaily, 1/26/18)

National Association Of Wheat Growers CEO Chandler Goule: "As We Consider Our Place In The World Stage, Let's Make Sure That We Preserve Smart Trade Deals That Keep American Wheat Producers In A Strong Position. This Includes

Remaining In NAFTA And Moving Ahead With Bi-Lateral Trade Agreements.” (“Farm Group Leaders Respond To Trump’s First State Of The Union,” Farm Futures, 1/31/18)
